

09/26/080

5 magnesium fluoride is oriented with its principal axis about in the direction of the optical axis (A) at the reticle. In addition, a suitable cooling system is described.

[illegible]